Supplier Code of Conduct

Supplier code of conduct statement

This Supplier Code of Conduct sets out Autotrader's expectations of all its suppliers.

Autotrader holds itself and our suppliers to the highest standards of behaviour. We want our suppliers to share our values and collaborate with them to build a stronger, more responsible supply chain.

As part of our supplier engagement strategy, we collate information which provides greater insight into aspects of our suppliers' performance, including environmental, social and governance practices. We also invest in market leading data providers to supplement our "know your supplier" information and reporting.

We use a top down approach to engage and share our own experiences with the suppliers we have the most engagement with, to understand how they are supporting charities and communities, how they are improving diversity and inclusion, what governance they have in place to ensure good practice and limit instances of modern slavery, bribery or breaches of other relevant legislation and approach to sustainability.

As part of Autotrader's scope 3 GHG emissions, we engage our highest emitting suppliers to understand what initiatives, targets and calculations they are monitoring and reporting.

Our Supplier Code of Conduct is published on Autotrader's corporate website, shared with all new suppliers and via our supplier onboarding system.

The overleaf information sets out Autotrader's minimum standards, which it expects all suppliers to operate to.

Governance

As a supplier to Autotrader, you understand and confirm that you:

- Will act with integrity in your dealings with Autotrader and comply with the laws and regulations of the countries in which you operate, as well as all international laws, regulations and industry practices, related to the business you conduct.

- Will implement environmental sustainability practices in the strategy of your business raising awareness and providing training where needed.
- Encourage the implementation and use of sustainable initiatives, practices and tools to reduce your consumption of energy, improve recycling and reduce your carbon footprint.

Sustainability

Autotrader acknowledges that its suppliers may have different environmental impacts, and could be at different stages of their own environmental journeys but as a minimum requirement, we expect all suppliers to:

- Implement environmental sustainability practices in the strategy of your business, raising awareness and providing training where needed.
- Encourage the implementation and use of sustainable initiatives, practices and tools to reduce your consumption of energy, improve recycling and reduce your carbon footprint.

We encourage all suppliers to consider:

- Embedding sustainable considerations into any policies, processes and practices to improve the sustainability of your business.
- Making appropriate commitments and setting targets which will have a positive environmental impact e.g. reduction of waste and energy consumption
- Assessing sustainability initiatives, with a view to signing up and linking to any targets.

Autotrader calculates the carbon emissions associated with its supply chain and reports these as part of its scope 3 emissions. As a supplier to Autotrader, we may request information from you relating to the below requirements, which you agree to confirm within a reasonable timeframe:

- Whether you are or have committed to Science Based Targets or Net Zero Targets.
- Confirmation of your scope 1, 2 and where calculated, 3 emissions, and what period these calculations cover.
- What methodology was used in your calculations, and whether these are verified by a third party.
- What your greenhouse gas emissions are per GBP, EURO or USD revenue.

By working with Autotrader, you are agreeing to adhere to this Code of Conduct.

Autotrader relies upon its suppliers to uphold these values and ethical standards. If you wish to report any violation of this Code of Conduct, whether by a supplier or Autotrader employee, please speak with your Autotrader contact, if this is not possible for whatever reason, please contact Autotrader via:
